

Lic. Jayne Bryant is a PhD researcher and the MSLS Programme Co-Director in the Department of Strategic Sustainable Development at BTH, and a part of the teaching team in the MSLS program. Jayne has a Masters in Strategic Leadership towards Sustainability from BTH, and a Masters in Human Ecology: Culture Power and Sustainability from Lund University. Originally a singer/songwriter, Jayne spent the better part of 6 years using her creativity on organisational change in the local government sector in Western Australia. Her current research interest is on the role of creativity and the arts in change for sustainability.